Dear Drew Ribar,

Thank you for contacting the Office of the Secretary of State ("SOS") regarding the status of your July 8, 2025 public records request and your follow-up question relating to your February 28, 2024 request. Your correspondence provides the following requests:

1. Produce the PRR tracker responsive to the original request, with only legally justified redactions, and begin releasing other available responsive records. If you contend the tracker cannot be produced now, identify the particular obstacle and earliest availability date.
2. Identify any production already made for this July 2025 request by date, delivery method, and files provided. State approximately how many records have been located, reviewed, and remain for review; what work remains; and why previous estimates were not met.
3. Confirm whether you will complete production by October 23, 2026. If you will not, provide specific reasons and a schedule identifying the earliest date and time each remaining category will be available. A date for another status update does not answer when the records will be available.
4. Prioritize: The tracker, initial requests and initial responses, followed by final responses and their associated productions.

Additionally, you are seeking information regarding a previously closed public records request from early 2024 and closed in late 2025, including a redaction log and explanations for records withheld or redacted under attorney-client privilege, deliberative process, and personal privacy protections.

The Secretary of State's Office acknowledges your outlined priorities regarding the July 2025 request, and the Office is continuing to process responsive records in accordance with NRS 239.0107. The Office will follow the prioritization sequence you identified to the extent practicable.

With respect to your February 2024 request, please note that the Nevada Public Records

Act does not require the Office to create or produce a record-by-record redaction or withholding log. The closure letter issued on December 19, 2025 provided the statutory bases for the redactions and withholdings consistent with NRS 239.010 and NRS 239.0107(1)(d). If you would like a copy of the December 19 letter or to have the production re-sent, please advise and the information will be provided again.

Thank you for contacting the Office of the Secretary of State.

Sincerely,

The Office of the Secretary of State
